Maryland 19th in Sears Directors' Cup

In final standings released by the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA), the Terrapins' program was ranked tied for 19th out of 306 Division I schools last year. It is the highest finish for the Terps since the rankings began five years ago, and Maryland's 38-position jump from the No. 57 spot in 1994-95 is the greatest in that time by a school not previously ranked in the Top 25.

University of Maryland

Excellence In Education

There is na better place to be than the University of Maryland. As Washingtanian magazine nated in its December, 1997 issue, "...kids are turning dawn schools like Princeton and Virginia ta ga ta College Park." With its top-ranked academic programs, nationally recagnized faculty, diverse population and lush 1,580-acre campus located between Washington, D.C. and Baltimore, Md., it's no wander the University af Maryland is a sought-after destinatian for same of the state's — and the cauntry's — best and brightest students.

Attracting them are mare than 100 majars and same af the highest-ranked pragrams in the cauntry. Far instance, in the 1998 U.S. News and Warld Repart rankings of graduate schools, the Clark School of Engineering was ranked 13th in the natian, the Schaal of Public Affairs was ranked 27th, and also was named one of the cauntry's 25 best business schaals far entrepreneurs by Success magazine. And, the university's Schaal af Music was ranked 30th in the country in the first U.S. News and Warld Report reputational survey af arts pragrams since 1994.

The reputatian of the Schaal af Music pramises ta graw when the Maryland Center far the Perfarming Arts apens in 2000. With a 1,200-seat cancert hall, a 300-seat recital hall, a 650-seat prascenium theater, a 200-seat dance studia and a 200-seat experimental theater with state-af-the-art lighting, acaustics and theatrical design elements, it will be an ideal hame far university-based perfarming arts programs.

For exceptional students seeking an exceptianal education at the University af Maryland, College Park, there are a number af pragrams designed to enrich the learning experience. Among them are the Hanars Pragram, ranked among the nine best in the cauntry by Ivy League Pragrams at State Schaal Prices; College Park Scholars, which encaurages students wha share camman intellectual interests ta live and study tagether in 10 specialty areas; and the Gemstane Pragram, which links student teams fram engineering, the humanities, business and the physical sciences in a faur-year research praject.

Supporting the research needs of students and faculty are same af the country's best research facilities. In 1994, the largest, most technically advanced research archives in the world — National Archives II — moved to College Park. In addition, just autside af College Park are the Library af Cangress, the Smithsanian Institutian and the Natianal Libraries af Agriculture and Medicine, amang athers. The university itself has the most camprehensive library system in the area.

The University of Maryland, College Park, as the flagship campus af the state higher education system, is a vital part of Maryland's current prasperity and its visian far the future. Far students here, the state affers a bounteaus extension af the campus' own wealth of opportunity.

High tech, engineering and service industries thrive in praximity ta the campus, affering a wide spectrum af internship and wark-study appartunities that anly a majar metrapalitan area can pravide. The Kennedy Center alane houses the National Symphony Orchestra, five performance stages, an opera company, and the American Film Institute. In Baltimore, one of the great ports of the world, the Inner Harbor has become a cultural magnet far thausands of tourists each year, affering the National Aquarium, the Maryland Science Center, and ather attractions.

Whether yaur focus is the sciences or the humanities, a small town atmosphere ar a metropalitan feel, the University of Maryland, College Park offers a wide range af educational and cultural apportunities. There is no better place to be than the University of Maryland, College Park.

Dr. C. D. Mote, Jr., University President

Dr. Dan Mote was appointed 27th president of the University of Maryland June 2, 1998. He comes to Maryland from the University of California, Berkeley, where he was Vice Chancellor of University Relations, President of the UC Berkeley Foundation, and held an endowed chair in Mechanical Systems.

"The Regents could not be more pleased with this appointment," said Lance Billingsley, chairman of the University System of Maryland Board of Regents. "Dr. Mote brings to the University of Maryland the national stature, record of accomplishment, and leadership abilities to build on [former university president] Brit Kirwan's legacy and to propel this institution into the top tier of American research universities. A man of impeccable credentials, he is widely recognized for his ability to form strategic alliances between the academy and the community. I can think of no one better to take over the helm of our flagship university."

Mote, 61, was named to the vice chancellor's position and foundation presidency at UC Berkeley in 1991. In those capacities, he has been responsible for working with the university's external constituencies through a variety of programs, including fund raising, government relations, publications and public information. In 1992 he launched a comprehensive, campus-wide campaign to raise $1.1 billion in private support by the year 2000.

From 1987 to 1991, Mote served as chair of Berkeley's Department of Mechanical Engineering, leading the department to its No. 1 ranking in the National Research Council review of graduate program effectiveness. He came to Berkeley in 1967 after three years on the faculty of Carnegie Institute of Technology. He has held research positions at the University of Birmingham (England), the Norwegian Institute for Wood Science and Technology, the Technical University of Darmstadt, and the Tokyo Institute of Technology.

His technical expertise is in the areas of dynamic systems, instrumentation, vibration, and biomechanics. He is internationally recognized for his research on gyroscopic systems and also the biomechanics of skiing injury. His research work has yielded 300 publications as well as patents in the U.S., Norway, Finland and Sweden.

He is a registered professional engineer in California and has served professional societies in a number of capacities. He was Vice President of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers (Environment and Transportation Group) from 1986-90 and Vice Chairman of the ASME Council on Engineering in 1989-90. He was the founding chair of the ASME Noise Control and Acoustics Division and served from its inception in 1979 until 1983.

Among his numerous honors, Mote has received research fellowships from the National Science Foundation and from the Royal Norwegian Council for Scientific and Industrial Research. In 1971 the University of California, Berkeley, gave him its Distinguished Teacher Award. In 1988 he was elected to the National Academy of Engineering in the U.S. and was awarded the Humboldt Prize by the Federal Republic of Germany. In 1997 Mote was chosen Honorary Member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the highest award bestowed by this society, for exemplary accomplishments in the course of his career.

Mote holds B.S. and M.S. degrees in mechanical engineering and a Ph.D. in engineering mechanics, all from the University of California, Berkeley.

Did You Know?

• Maryland has top 20 ranked programs in engineering, computer science, physics, journalism, business, art history, economics, criminology, mathematics, oceanography, astronomy, education, agricultural economics and others.

• The University Honors Program was selected as one the nation's nine best in ARCO's Guide to Ivy League Programs at State School Prices.

• College Park has the state's largest concentration of academically talented students. More than one-third of new students are in invitation-only Honors, College Park Scholars or Gemstone programs.

• The university collaborates with more than 280 businesses through its Maryland Industrial Partnerships program. The university's incubator has spawned 20 new companies; three have been recognized as among the fastest growing in the state.

• Maryland is the only university in the southeast quadrant of the United States to have both engineering and business programs ranked in the top 25 by U.S. News and World Report. The College of Education also ranks in the top 25.

Maryland Terrapins

Among the Nation's Best

This is Maryland Athletics

At the University of Maryland, winning is not taken lightly. Like the rich history of all its sports programs, championships are a tradition.

Since the 1950s, Maryland has established itself as one of the most successful athletic programs in the nation. This type of success is no accident; it has been built year-by-year on the achievements of outstanding young men and women who were given the opportunity to excel both on and off the field of play. The victories, the championships and the national acclaim are all ingredients of the Maryland athletic program. Student-athletes who attend Maryland are part of a program and a university which thrives on tradition and excellence.

Athletic Success

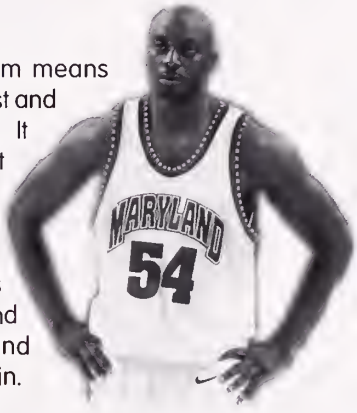
National championships, conference championships, national rankings and postseason play are all a part of the University of Maryland experience. The University of Maryland has established itself as one of the nation's elite athletic programs. The Terrapins have won 13 national championships, including a record four consecutive by the women's lacrosse team. The Terrapins had plenty of reason to celebrate when it came to intercollegiate athletics in 1997-98, as they posted their highest finish ever (No. 19) in the national Sears Directors' Cup all-sports ranking. Its 38-position jump from the No. 57 spot in 1994-95 is the greatest in that time by a school not previously ranked in the top 25.

Academic Excellence

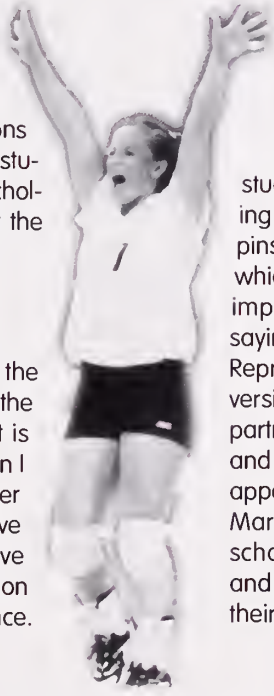
The University of Maryland considers intercollegiate athletics an integral part of the collegiate experience. Its existence provides an opportunity for students, faculty, alumni and students to share in the life of intercollegiate athletics.

The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to achieve the same standards of excellence in its athletic program as exist within the university's teaching, research and public service programs. The department embraces the concept that the student-athlete is first and foremost a student, possessing academic abilities, personal interests and ambitions comparable to those of the other members of the student body. Since 1983, 88 percent of freshmen scholarship athletes who completed their eligibility at the University of Maryland earned their degrees.

Competition



Wearing the Maryland uniform means playing in front of some of the loudest and most supportive fans in the nation. It means playing against the best teams in the country, in the most prestigious conference in the country, the ACC. It means wearing the school colors with pride. It means doing your best in athletics and academics. It is a unique and special feeling being a Terrapin.



Goals

The great thing about being a Terrapin is the commitment to hard work and dedication. At the University of Maryland, the athletic department is dedicated to supporting a well-balanced Division I program. Athletic Director Deborah A. Yow and her dedicated coaches, administrators and staff have re-engineered the department into a responsive and financially sound model — with a clear vision and a determined drive toward national prominence.

Athletes in the Community

From the media spotlight to the community spotlight, Terrapin student-athletes strengthen the ties of the local community by serving as role models. Community service is a key part of the Terrapins' agenda. Student-athletes support many community programs which help to enrich the lives of Maryland youth while teaching the importance of studying hard and saying "no" to drugs and alcohol. Representatives from the University of Maryland athletic department speak to participants and use their image and the appeal of sports to encourage Maryland children to stay in school, improve their reading and writing skills, and to receive their high school diplomas.

Deborah A. Yow, Director of Athletics

The University of Maryland athletic department has made remarkable progress under the leadership of Deborah A. Yow over the past four years. Budgets are now balanced and the inherited operating debt of almost $7 million has been paid in full. There is a spirit of excitement and pride at Maryland and the department has a clear vision for its future.

In her inspiring first meeting with the staff, shortly after she was named A.D. in the summer of 1994, she challenged the Terrapin athletic department to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools...to work hard and work smart...to recognize that our only limitations are those which we place upon ourselves."

Yow has rallied the department toward the achievement of five strategic goals:

1) Generate significantly higher revenues with increased corporate sponsorships, aggressive marketing and more effective fund-raising;

2) Boost the graduation rate of Terrapin athletes to a level equal to the general student body;

3) Raise the level of competitive achievement nationally and in the Atlantic Coast Conference, while carefully complying with ACC and NCAA rules;

4) Develop a streamlined, highly efficient athletics organization;

5) Provide outstanding customer service.

In achieving most of these goals over her first four years as athletic director, Yow and her dedicated coaches, administrators and staff have re-engineered the department from a debt-ridden, underachieving organization to a responsive and financially sound model — with a clear vision and a determined drive toward national prominence. Maryland now ranks in the top 10 percent of all NCAA Division I programs competitively across all sports, is competing effectively in the ACC, and set an enviable record of 154 All-ACC academic honor roll student-athletes. Corporate sponsorship revenues are up 265 percent and annual fundraising for scholarships has increased 60 percent. Maryland is a remarkably improved athletic program.

In 1997, Yow formed the employee "Committee on Quality in the Workplace" to recommend initiatives to improve working conditions and to design programs to recognize the value of athletic department employees. This has proved to be a wonderful tool in recognizing the worth of the university's outstanding employees across the department. There is a compelling sense that the Terrapin athletic department is a family, with a common goal and a shared purpose.

Maryland's athletic director recently observed, "We have the finest coaches, support staff, and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work, and cooperation that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets and our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the Maryland Educational Foundation and M Club members who serve and give liberally. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all our successes...and the basis for our bright future."

Regarding the many achievements of the Terrapin athletic program, Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied...our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently...we see no reason to settle for less." Yow, who is a member of the NCAA Management Council and other prestigious national groups, is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and expects maximum effort from herself and those around her. Her words set the tone for everyone in athletics: "Winning isn't everything, but the will to win is." She points out that this applies in the classroom, on the field of competition, and in life.

A former basketball coach, Yow was the first male or female at the Division I level to lead three schools (Kentucky, Oral Roberts, Florida) to their first-ever appearances in the national Top 25. Her previous significant administrative experience came at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina-Greensboro and as a pioneer female athletic director at Saint Louis University (1990-94).

The Maryland athletic department staff is working as a focused, talented and determined team under the dynamic leadership of Dr. Deborah A. Yow and is realizing steady and remarkable progress across all areas, with the best yet to come.

With a clear vision and with high aspirations for Maryland athletics, the Terps prepare to enter the new century on a dramatic upward thrust. The athletics staff embraces this prospect, with gratitude for its successes and with renewed determination to further enhance the program's national stature. It has the skill and determined leadership to reach its lofty goals, as a part of this great university. And it will.

Yow Elected 2nd VP of NACDA

Deborah A. Yow was elected second vice president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics this past June and is scheduled to assume the organization's presidency in July 2000. Her term as second vice-president began July 1. Now in its 33rd year, NACDA serves as the professional and educational association for more than 5,100 college athletic directors, associates, assistants and conference commissioners at more than 1,600 institutions throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico. Yow is the second woman to serve as an officer of NACDA (Barbara Hedges, athletic director at the University of Washington, held office from 1994-97).

Academic Support & Career Development

The University of Maryland considers intercollegiate athletics an integral part of the collegiate experience. Its existence provides an opportunity for students, faculty, alumni and students to share in the life of intercollegiate athletics.

The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to achieve the same standards of excellence in its athletics program as exist within the university's teaching, research and public service programs. The department embraces the concept that the student-athlete is first and foremost a student, possessing academic abilities, personal interests and ambitions comparable to those of the other members of the student body.

The mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit, headed by assistant athletic director Demetrius Marlowe, is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that will enhance the academic progress, facilitate the career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of every student-athlete.

MAPS Directory

This directory, produced annually by the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics, is intended to assist graduating Terrapin student-athletes as they begin their professional careers. Distributed to more than 1,000 corporations and businesses around the region, prospective employers are introduced to our graduating student-athletes with a photograph and resume information relative to academic, career and personal achievements.

Terp Choices

Terp Choices is a program designed to guide student-athletes by orienting, supporting and increasing awareness of the relevant issues pertaining to student-athletes in today's world. The focus of the program is making personal choices and how they may affect an entire team, not just a single individual. Education and interactive workshops are presented to the athletic team and are led by student educators.

Career Information Fairs

Career Awareness in Academic Support is expanding to include a variety of programs which will be offered for student-athletes throughout the semester. Career awareness will be an ongoing process and will include assistance with resume writing and interview skills. The end of the semester will bring a career awareness fair which will host a number of professionals with whom student-athletes can learn about career interests and planning. Unlike typical "job fairs," the purpose of this program is to allow student-athletes to explore multiple career opportunities by speaking directly to individuals in their chosen area of interest.

Team Maryland

Team Maryland is a class taught in conjunction with the campus' Center for Political Leadership in which student-athletes are exposed to leadership and public speaking skills and techniques. The program consists of a group of volunteer student-athletes who learn about the challenges for children in the community by speaking to different elementary schools about drug abuse and the importance of education.

In conjunction with the campus' Center for Political Leadership, participants are taught leadership skills and public speaking techniques to use in their school-based presentation. In addition to school visits, Team Maryland has hosted visits from local schools to our campus.

Maryland 1998 Season Outlook

The Maryland Terrapins have an interesting year ahead. Maryland is coming off of arguably the most successful season in school history, a 27-2 campaign that featured a 25-0 regular-season record and a first-place finish in the Atlantic Coast Conference and the team's third consecutive trip to the NCAA Tournament. Maryland became only the eighth team in NCAA Division I history to finish the regular season with an undefeated record. Coupled with the fact that Maryland had just three senior starters a year ago, one might think the Terrapins would be ready for a repeat performance in 1997.

However, that is not the case. The 1998 squad has a number of holes to fill: gone is four-year setter Eden Kroeger, who was among the greatest Terrapins ever, and senior Elizabeth Efron, who was among the top hitters in school history. Kroeger became Maryland's all-time assist leader last season en route to earning ACC Player of the Year honors. Efron leaves Maryland as the all-time leader in hitting with a .299 average. A two-time first team All-ACC selection, Efron's team-high 465 kills a year ago rank her second in the single-season record book. Also gone is senior middle hitter Conya Jabari-Kitwala, who was a force in the middle, and a threat from behind the serving line.

"Eden (Kroeger) and Eli (Efron) brought great leadership to Maryland volleyball. It wasn't just a 'now-and-then' sort of thing, they brought that day in and day out. They were sound, competitive players who were just a joy to coach and be around," said head coach Janice Kruger.

Two starters return from a year ago, including senior Jaime Summers, a first team All-ACC selection last year, and senior defensive standout Kim Adolphs.

The focal point of the Maryland offense in 1998 will revolve most certainly around Summers. She returns as the team's leading hitter from a year ago, and in her first season as a starter, she played in every single game of every single match, hitting a team-high .331. She was second on the team in kills with 352 and ranked fourth in the ACC in hitting.

Terps' Streaks to Watch in 1998

• The Terps carry a 34-match ACC regular-season win streak into the season. Their last ACC loss was on Oct. 25, 1995 at Clemson.

• The Terps carry a 32-match overall regular-season win streak into the season. Their last loss was on Oct. 18, 1996 at Florida.

• The Terps carry a 17-match overall home win streak into the 1998 season (including matches at Cole Field House and Ritchie Coliseum). Their last loss was on Oct. 9, 1996 against George Mason.

• The Terps carry a nine-match win streak at Ritchie Coliseum into the 1998 season. That streak dates back to their opening win against James Madison on Sept. 30, 1997.

• The Terps carry an eight-match ACC win streak at Ritchie Coliseum into the 1998 season. That streak dates back to an Oct. 10, 1997 win over Wake Forest.

Senior Jaime Summers, a first team All-ACC selection in 1997, returns as the Terps' top offensive threat

"I really look for Jaime to have a fun senior year. She is a solid performer, but one who is the silent-but-deadly type of competitor. She leads by example rather than being too vocal. I look for her to really leave her mark on this program," said Kruger.

Adolphs returns as the Terps' top defensive player and has the uncanny ability to get to balls that other players can't come close to getting. The Australia native was second on the team last year in digs with 428, only 21 shy of team leader Eden Kroeger. Not only is Adolphs sound defensively, she has one of the most dangerous serves in the ACC, and has great leaping ability.

"Kim brings us the stability and the toughness this team needs. She has an aggressive attack and can really hurt a team by her tenacious style of defense," adds Kruger. "She is so mentally strong that she can adjust to about anything, and we will look to her as one of our go-to hitters."

Kruger toyed with several different lineups throughout the course of the season last year. Kroeger, Efron Jabari-Kitwala, Summers and Adolphs were a constant, while then-sophomore Kate Hannas, then-senior Lindy Forsberg or either then-freshmen Katie Jentes or Maren Stuart would fill the sixth starting spot.

Even with a solid group of experienced returning talent and an influx of some promising youth, depth will be one of Kruger's main concerns in 1998.

A big question mark for the Maryland coaching staff is the need for a setter who can fill Kroeger's shoes.

Sophomore Katarina Bridova played one year as a backup setter to Kroeger, but appeared in only one game. Bridova does a lot of things well but is still learning the American game. Her height is an added advantage because she can be considered a threat at the block. Another possibility at the setter position are newcomers Libby Alberts and Judy Shen. Alberts is a tremendous athlete who played on the Kaepa Northern Lights club team which defeated the highly-touted Sports Performance team at the 1998 Sports Performance Classic tournament. She possesses a level of maturity well beyond her years. Shen offers Maryland a couple of possibilities as she can play either the setter position or add depth as a defensive specialist.

"It is exciting in some aspects to have three setters vying for one position. It is something we haven't had in a long time because we have relied on Eden (Kroeger) the last four years. It gives us a solid basis for setting, in that each of them brings something new to the table. Each one of them has different strengths that another might not possess," comments Kruger. "Libby (Alberts) and Judy (Shen) are more familiar with the American game so they both bring a different tempo to the game than does Katarina."

With the loss of senior Elizabeth Efron, one of the elite players in Maryland volleyball history, from the outside, the Terrapins will look to some familiar faces to help fill the void. Adolphs headlines the group of outside hitters and will be looked upon to carry more of the offensive load. She will have to hit the ball at a high level from different positions on the court to be successful.

Junior Kate Hannas and sophomore Katie Jentes will be given every opportunity to contribute from the outside hitter position. Hannas possesses a good competitive attitude and her physical strength will be a key this season. Jentes is a strong, physical player who has matured greatly throughout the course of the year. She offers versatility and power at the outside position. Joining the mix of outside hitters are newcomers Beth Murphy, a transfer from Duquesne, and Angie Banys.

Murphy adds height, power and stability to the young Maryland corps of outside hitters. She is a solid player who possesses sound ball control, and her two years of collegiate experience is a big bonus for Maryland volleyball. "Beth fills the hole up front that this team had been missing a year ago. She displays good court demeanor, and I think her experience will allow her to immediately contribute in the front row," said Kruger.

Senior Kim Adolphs (13) and junior Kate Hannas (10) are two of the top six returning letterwinners from last season.

Summers took over as one of the elite offensive weapons in the ACC last year, leading Maryland in hitting. She will be heavily relied upon to provide firepower for the Terrapin offense in 1998 as well.

Sophomore Maren Stuart has a year of experience under her belt and will be a force at the outside or middle position. She has the talent to play both positions but lacks the experience to be a go-to hitter. Willette Dority and Katie Cramer, who both redshirted last year, will figure into Maryland's offensive mixture, as well. Cramer has a big block and is a high-hitting target for the setter. She has a great attitude and a good on-court presence, and improved tremendously during the spring. Dority will add backup depth at the middle hitter position.

Newcomer Autumn Wilson, a freshman from Rising Sun, Md., fills the void in the back row. Her defensive skills are solid and her intelligence will help the young Terrapin squad.

In keeping with recent Maryland tradition, the Terrapins have assembled a formidable schedule for 1998. Not only will Maryland have to face the night-in, night-out challenge of competing in one of the nation's elite volleyball conferences, the Terrapins will face an impressive lineup of non-conference foes as well.

Early-season opponents include Michigan (at the Georgetown Invitational); San Diego State (at the Temple Owls Apollo Classic); and a trip to Colorado to face national powerhouses Colorado and Colorado State.

"Just as the case was last year, this year's schedule will prepare us for our ACC schedule. We are excited to be traveling to Colorado. It not only gives us the opportunity to play two quality caliber teams, but it also gives Katie (Cramer) and Beth (Murphy) a chance to play in front of their families," continues Kruger.

Maryland's Ritchie Coliseum plays host to this year's ACC Tournament which begins on Nov. 20. The Terps will be seeking to take over the title that they held two years ago.

Janice Kruger, Head Coach

11th Season at Maryland • 20th Season Overall • Nebraska '77

Milestones. Janice Kruger knows about them. First, on Nov. 16, 1996, the head coach of the Maryland volleyball program made Atlantic Coast Conference history. It was on this day that she guided the Terrapins to an unprecedented 16-0 record in ACC regular-season play. Eight days later, Maryland continued its magical dance through the ACC, defeating ACC Tournament host Georgia Tech in three games, to claim the 1996 ACC championship.

Then, a year later, minus the 1996 ACC Player of the Year and two other senior starters, Kruger guided the Terps to yet another historical feat.

Not only did the Terps record their second consecutive undefeated ACC regular-season record, they became only the eighth team in NCAA Division I history to march through the regular season with an unblemished record. Maryland finished the 1997 regular season with a 25-0 record, and made its third consecutive trip to the NCAA Tournament.

The honors and awards would mirror the 1996 program. Senior setter Eden Kroeger was named ACC Player of the Year, Maryland's second consecutive honor, and was joined by senior Elizabeth Efron and sophomore Jaime Summers as first team All-ACC selections. These three also earned AVCA District III first-team honors, and Kroeger would earn Volleyball honorable mention All-America honors.

Kruger also earned ACC Coach of the Year for the third time, and District III Coach of the Year honors for the second consecutive year. The Terps would finish the year ranked No. 23.

Since her arrival in College Park in 1988, Kruger has transformed the Terrapin program into a regional powerhouse, and into a team always in the hunt for an Atlantic Coast Conference title.

After taking over the Maryland program in 1988, Kruger guided the Terrapins to their first Atlantic Coast Conference volleyball championship and their first NCAA Tournament appearance in 1990. Since that season, Maryland has made three consecutive trips to the second round of the NCAA Tournament, and captured its second ACC championship in 1996.

In 1996, Kruger guided Maryland to a 26-5 record, its second Atlantic Coast Conference title, and the school's third appearance in the NCAA Tournament. The Terps finished the year ranked No. 21, their first national ranking in school history, and Kruger received her second ACC Coach of the Year honor. Daune Koester earned ACC Player of the Year honors while Efron and Kroeger joined her as first team All-ACC selections.

In her second season, Maryland finished tied for third in the ACC and set the groundwork for Kruger's illustrious future. Her hard work and patience paid off quickly as she saw the Terrapins compile a 23-15 record in 1989, the school's best in five years.

Kruger's progression toward excellence continued, and by her third season in College Park, Kruger was recognized by her peers as the 1990 ACC Coach of the Year. She led her squad to an ACC championship and to Maryland's first NCAA Tournament appearance.

As only the second coach in Maryland volleyball history, Kruger's impact at College Park has been an extremely positive one. In her first five years, her squads finished no lower than third place in the ever-competitive Atlantic Coast Conference, and posted some impressive victories throughout.

During Kruger's 10-year tenure at Maryland, 23 of her players have earned All-ACC honors, with three being named ACC Player of the Year.

Prior to her arrival at Maryland, the popular Kruger was the head coach at Nebraska-Omaha where she led her teams to four Division II Final Four appearances in nine years. Twice named the Division II National Coach of the Year while at Nebraska-Omaha, Kruger accumulated over 350 wins during her nine-year coaching stint. Her teams captured five consecutive North Central Conference championships, and in 1983, recorded an unbelievable 49 wins en route to the school's first Final Four appearance under Kruger.

Kruger earned her bachelor of science degree from the University of Nebraska in 1977 where she was a four-year letterwinner and captain on the Husker volleyball team. The native of Randolph, Neb., then received her master's degree in athletic administration in 1978.

In 1978, Kruger took over as head coach at Platte Technical Community College in Columbus, Neb., where she led her team to a 23-9 record and a spot in the national junior college tournament.

Terrapin Coaching Staff

Paul Scheel, Assistant Coach

Four years after first joining the Terrapin staff in 1994, Paul Scheel has clearly established that he is just as driven from the sidelines as he was on the court during his competitive days.

Scheel expects no less of himself than he does of his student-athletes. When he is not coaching, he keeps plenty busy coordinating team travel, scheduling and recruiting.

Over the past four years, this Minnesota native has been instrumental in signing some of the nation's best prep players to the Maryland lineup, including 1998 recruit Libby Alberts, who was the starting setter for Kaepa Northern Lights club team which defeated perennial powerhouse Sports Performance at the 1998 Sports Performance Junior Classic Tournament.

Having been on the other side of the coin, Scheel brings an understanding and a level of intensity to recruiting and coaching that make him a truly valuable member of the staff. A former student-athlete for St. Cloud State, Scheel has experienced the challenges of excelling at the collegiate level and has mastered the skills required to pass along what he learned about the game, and the art of balance.

He was a three-year letterman at St. Cloud State where he earned all-conference all three years. He led St. Cloud State to a 60-12 record throughout his three seasons, and to a second-place finish at the 1989 NIVC Tournament. As a senior, he played at Eastern Montana College, leading the team to its best NCAA Division I record in school history (20-8).

Felix Hou, Assistant Coach

Now in his fourth year as an assistant coach of the Terrapin volleyball team, Felix Hou has established himself as an outstanding coach, and an exceptional teacher and motivator, as well. He is challenging in his training styles but also, at the same time, makes the game interesting and fun.

Hou's international coaching and playing experience is a vital aspect of Maryland's recent success. His strategic planning and his broad-based knowledge about the game of volleyball has strengthened the Maryland program.

A native of China, Hou has helped chart new and exciting paths for volleyball players of all ages. There is certainly no doubt about it that Hou's international coaching experience has helped strengthen Maryland volleyball. There is a not a better coach out there who prepares a team quite the way Hou does. Because of his international experience, Hou is so schooled in the various volleyball styles that he can prepare any team for any type of competition, and can easily depict the positives and negatives of a player.

Hou easily ranks as a veteran to the sport of volleyball. He played seven years for the Chinese National Team, missing the 1980 Olympic Games because of his country's boycott. The 1980 Chinese team recorded an undefeated record in world competition.

Prior to his arrival to the University of Maryland, Hou spent two years as an assistant coach for the Yohan women's volleyball professional team in Hong Kong. He also served as the coach for Iceland's national team, and the men's and women's teams at Iceland University.

Hou served his native country for several years before moving to Iceland. He coached the national women's youth team, and the Beijing women's team. As a coach, Hou has delivered seven players to the Chinese National Team, and six to the Iceland National Team.

He earned a bachelor's degree in coaching management from Shanghai Physical Education Institute. His wife, Xiaolan Zhou (Joy), was captain of China's 1984 Olympic gold medal volleyball team. They have a daughter, Lucy (10).

Maryland 1997 Season Recap

Terps Join Elite After Undefeated Regular Season

Not only was Maryland's 27-2 campaign in 1997 perhaps the best in Maryland volleyball history, it marked yet another chapter in the Terrapins' meteoric ascension to become one of the top teams in the country.

The season began without the services of 1996 ACC Player of the Year Daune Koester, and two other senior starters, Candice Seitz and Shannon Saltzman, who comprised a dangerously strong outside and middle attack. Head coach Janice Kruger had to find a way to incorporate four new faces into an already young and versatile lineup.

Two things remained, however; Eden Kroeger, the Terps' starting setter, and Elizabeth Efron, the leading hitter from the 1996 season. And with these two dynamically talented athletes, Kruger and the rest of the Maryland coaching staff and players dove in head first and embarked on an incredible journey that certainly no one will ever forget.

The Terps would be tested early, traveling to the Gazette Times Classic in Corvallis, Ore., where the young team would meet then-14th-ranked Ohio State in only its third match of the season. It would take five games but the Terps would collect their fourth win of the season, and capture the Classic title, collecting wins over Kent, Oregon State, Drake and Ohio State.

Maryland bolted to an 8-0 preseason start prior to the beginning of the ACC season. Tabbed to finish fourth in the ACC preseason coaches' poll, the Terps enjoyed being the "underdogs" and would go about business the same way they did the year before, with hopefully the same results (an unprecedented 16-0 regular-season record).

Maryland's road victories over North Carolina and NC State to open conference play staked the Terps to a 10-0 record to start the season, the best start in school history.

After consecutive shutouts over James Madison, Virginia and Wake Forest, the Maryland winning streak was now at 13-0, and the Terps hadn't lost an ACC regular-season match since October of 1995.

Eight Teams of Perfection
- Purdue (1982)
- UCLA (1988)
- Penn State (1990)
- Stanford (1991)
- UCLA (1992)
- Nebraska (1994)
- Hawai'i (1995)
- Maryland (1997)

After 3-1 home victories over Duke, Wake Forest and Florida State, the Terps would be tested again -- with road matches against Georgia Tech and Clemson. After being down 0-2 in both matches, the Terps would rally together, winning the next three games to extend their record to 18-0.

The second half of the ACC season also began on the road with meetings between Duke and Wake Forest. For the third consecutive match, the Terps were once again pushed to five games before escaping with the win. Duke won the first and third games before the Terps would come back and win the fourth and fifth. The Terps would easily defeat Wake Forest, 3-0, to collect their 20th straight win and keep their ACC winning streak intact.

Ranked 16th in the nation and hosting Clemson and Georgia Tech, the Terps would run into the same old song and dance as they did in the Senior setter Eden Kroeger, the 1997 ACC Player of the Year and a Volleyball All-American, became the Terps' career assist leader with 5,259 assists.

Terps Join Elite After Undefeated Regular Season

A Record-Setting Year

Senior setter Eden Kroeger became Maryland's all-time assist leader against NC State on Sept. 29. She left Maryland with 5,259 career assists ... the Terps own a 36-match ACC regular-season winning streak which dates back to Oct. 21, 1995 ... Maryland was ranked No. 15 in the AVCA poll, its highest ranking in school history ... Maryland finished the year ranked No. 23, its second consecutive year ranked in the top 25 ... Kroeger finished the year ranked No. 20 in the nation in digs with a 4.16 per-game average ... Maryland finished the year ranked No. 18 in team kills with a 16.77 per-game average ... Maryland was ranked No. 3 in the nation in digs with a 20.24 per-game average ... Maryland's .931 winning percentage ranked fourth in the nation.

first meeting against Georgia Tech and Clemson — the Terps down two games to none, but battle back to win 3-2. Georgia Tech won games one and two, 15-13 and 15-10, respectively, to go ahead 2-0. The Terps wouldn't surrender, however, winning the next three games, 15-8, 15-6, 15-13.

22-0. The Terps skated by Virginia (3-0) at home, and then traveled to Florida State where they would pick up win No. 23.

Two more regular-season matches remained, and both were at home against NC State and North Carolina. The Wolfpack wouldn't put up half of the fight they did against the Terps in September, losing 3-0.

History was made on November 15 as Maryland handed North Carolina a 3-1 defeat to become one of eight teams in the history of NCAA Division I volleyball to complete a regular season undefeated. Maryland would finish with a 25-0 record, and for the second consecutive season, record a 16-0 mark in the ACC.

The Terrapins entered the 1997 ACC Tournament as the No. 1 seed. Senior Eden Kroeger was named the year's ACC Player of the Year, while senior Elizabeth Efron and junior Jaime Summers joined Kroeger on the first team All-ACC.

Maryland met NC State in the quarterfinals of the ACC Tournament. In a long, hard-fought battle, the Terps would persevere, defeating the Wolfpack, 3-0. The score was no indication, however, of how close the match really was. The game scores do indicate that closeness, however — 16-14, 15-2, 17-15.

Clemson would end the Terps' hopes of a second straight ACC championship, and also end their 26-match win streak, in the semifinals. Maryland would win the first game but then go on to lose the next three.

"I didn't ever the feel pressure of being undefeated. We never talked about the streak. It was something that was happening as a result of some of our goals that we had set in different areas," said head coach Janice Kruger. "We definitely opened the eyes of the world with what we accomplished. However, we failed to get where we set out to go in the beginning, and that was the Sweet 16."

Maryland earned the right to host NCAA first and second round matches, and it would welcome Princeton, Fairfield and Ohio State to College Park. The Terps defeated Princeton, 3-0, in the first round, and would meet Ohio State for the second time in one year. The Buckeyes, again, would spoil the Terps' journey to the Sweet 16, defeating them 3-0 in Cole Field House.

"I think it might have been more beneficial for our conference finish to experience a loss prior to the ACC Tournament. I think our ending (the loss to Ohio State) was affected by that. It felt more like that we had given it everything we had every time out and we finally just ran dry," concludes Kruger.

The Terps' defense was ranked No. 3 in the nation in digs with a 20.24 per-game average.

Ritchie Coliseum, Home of the Terps

Since midway through the 1997 season, Ritchie Coliseum has brought Maryland volleyball enthusiasts and visiting fans excitement at its ultimate. It also has proven to be a friend of the Terrapins as Maryland has compiled a 9-0 record on its home court during the building's first year of operation. That incredible mark began on Sept. 30, 1997, when the Terrapins moved from Cole Field House and quickly notched their first win in the newly remodeled arena, defeating James Madison, 3-0. Ritchie Coliseum has been gaining momentum ever since.

Maryland fans have poured into Ritchie in increasing numbers throughout the season last year. Its official seating capacity is 1,850, with seating located around the court, including directly behind the team benches, and seat-back chairs for more comfortable viewing located in the upper bowl of the coliseum. Fans have the option of just sitting back and relaxing, or for those who prefer floor seating, the reverberations of the players pounding on the floor make the excitement all that much more intense.

Ritchie Coliseum was designed for all University of Maryland students. It is equipped with a new volleyball and basketball floor, a state-of-the-art weightlifting/conditioning room and martial arts room. Those not into weight training can enroll in various excellent classes offered by the Campus Recreation Department. Whatever your level, there is a class that fits your needs.

Originally built in 1931, Ritchie Coliseum joined campus landmarks such as Rossborough Inn and Turner Dairy on Route 1 in downtown College Park. The gymnasium joined the then-nine-year-old 5,000-seat Byrd Stadium, as the prime athletic facilities more than 65 years ago.

Ritchie Coliseum is the host of this year's 1998 Atlantic Coast Conference Volleyball Championship which will be held on Nov. 20-22. It is located across the street from the Rossborough Inn on Route 1 in College Park, and sits near Fraternity Row.

Directions to Ritchie

From Baltimore and North: Interstate 95 south to exit 25B, College Park/U.S. Route 1 South. Continue down Route 1, past the main gate of the University. Ritchie Coliseum will be on the left-hand side of Route 1 before Fraternity Row.

From Baltimore/Washington International Airport: Interstate 195 West to 95 South. Travel to exit 25B and follow the above directions to Ritchie Coliseum.

From Reagan National Airport: Interstate 395 South until it terminates at New York Avenue. Make a right onto New York Avenue and exit at Maryland Route 295 (Baltimore/Washington Parkway). Exit at Maryland Route 193 West (Greenbelt Road) and follow straight to Route 1 South. Continue down Route 1 and follow the above directions to Ritchie Coliseum.

From Washington/Richmond South: Interstate 95 North until exit 25B, College Park/U.S. Route 1 South. Take the above directions to Ritchie Coliseum.

From Dulles International Airport and West: Dulles Toll Road to Interstate 495 East. Take 495 East (Washington Beltway), which will change into Interstate 95 South for approximately 25 minutes to exit 25B. Take the above directions to Ritchie Coliseum.
